ABSTRACT

This report provides statistical information on fall 1995 enrollments in Pennsylvania colleges and universities. Data are drawn from an annual survey of 144 Pennsylvania colleges and universities and national surveys conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics. Approximately 618,600 students were enrolled in postsecondary degree programs, including 47,289 students in 95 private licensed schools authorized to grant specialized associate degrees. Tables and figures present the following data: (1) high school graduates and college first-time freshmen enrollments, 1986 through 1995; (2) fall enrollments by race, 1986 and 1995; (3) fall enrollments by level and sex, 1986 and 1995; (4) fall enrollments by type of institution, United States and Pennsylvania, by selected years; (5) fall enrollments by level and status, by selected years; (6) fall enrollments by sex and status, 1986 through 1995; (7) fall enrollments by institutional category and sex, 1995; (8) fall enrollments by institutional category and race, 1986 and 1995; (9) fall enrollments by age and sex, 1995; (10) fall undergraduate enrollments in occupationally specific programs by institutional category, 1987 and 1995; and (11) percentage change in fall enrollments by state, 1985 to 1993. Appendixes provide additional data, a glossary, and notes on sources. (MDM)

OVERVIEW

This publication provides a compilation of statistical information covering fall enrollments in Pennsylvania colleges and universities. It contains information on a variety of aspects of enrollments, including total enrollments for each college and university, sex, race and level of enrollment.

The source of this data is an annual survey of Pennsylvania colleges and universities. Estimates are provided for two nonresponding institutions. National data was drawn from the results of surveys conducted by the U.S. Department of Education, National Center for Education Statistics (NCES).

In addition to 144 colleges and universities, there are private licensed schools in Pennsylvania authorized to grant specialized associate degrees in business and technology (ASB and AST). In 1994-95, the latest year for which data was available, there were 95 schools with this degree-granting authority. These schools enrolled 47,289 students who were in pursuit of either the ASB or AST degree at that time. This figure, if coupled with college and university students, would place the number of people pursuing a postsecondary degree at approximately 618,600.

1/ Includes estimated data for the Thaddeus Stevens State School of Technology.

The increase in the number of college first-time freshmen enrollments in 1995 mirrored the increase in the number of high school graduates in Pennsylvania. The ratio of college first-time freshmen (which includes in-state, out-of-state and nonresident aliens) to Pennsylvania high school graduates increased from .67 in 1986 to .80 in 1995.

...the percentage of minority enrollments has increased since 1986...

Decreases in the percentage of white high school graduates resulted in a percentage decrease of white enrollments between 1986 and 1995. However, the percentage of black enrollments in Pennsylvania colleges and universities increased in line with their increased share of high school graduates. Asian/Pacific Islander, Hispanic and nonresident alien enrollments increased significantly during this period.

...female enrollments have been increasing more rapidly than male enrollments since 1986...

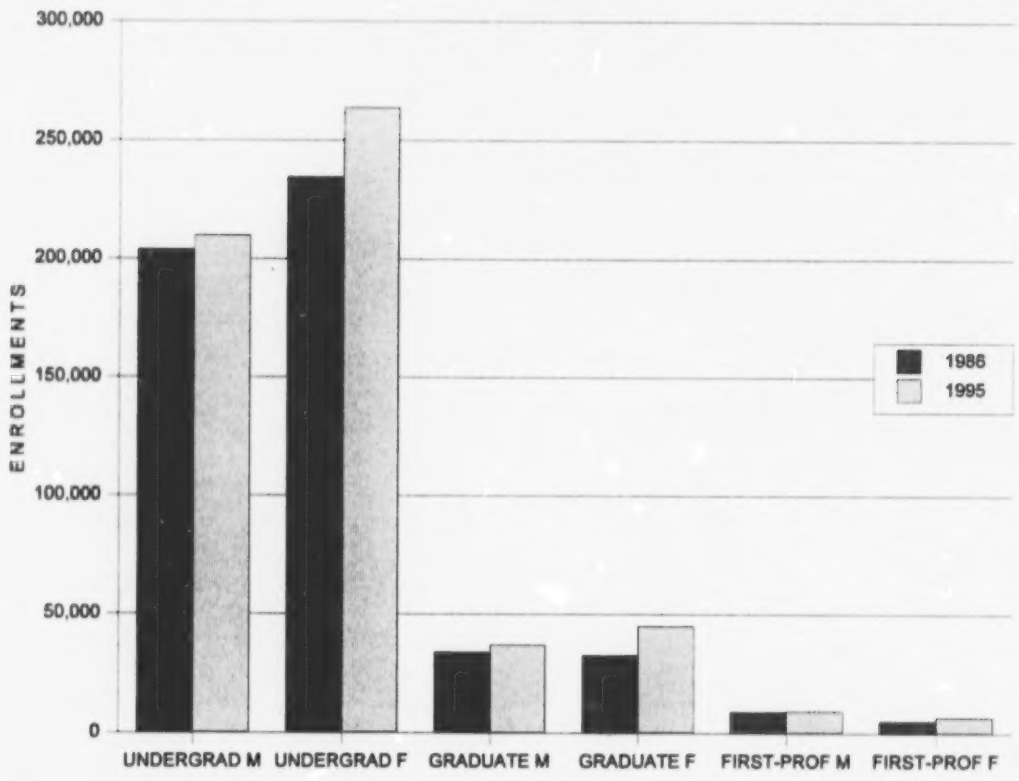
FALL ENROLLMENTS BY LEVEL AND SEX
1986 AND 1995



Since 1986, the percentage increase in female enrollments at each level far exceeded that of their male counterparts. Specifically, female undergraduate enrollments increased 12.5%; graduate, 37.2%; and first-professional, 34.7%. Comparatively, male undergraduate enrollments increased 3.0%; graduate, 8.7%; and first-professional, 3.9%.

1/ Preliminary data.
2/ Estimated data.

Pennsylvania has a strong sector of private colleges and universities comprising nearly 40% of the total enrollments, compared to approximately 21% nationwide. However, since 1985, the percentage of private sector enrollments in Pennsylvania has decreased by 2.3 percentage points.

Total Pennsylvania enrollments have followed similar trends as those nationwide, peaking in 1992 and declining thereafter. In Pennsylvania, most of the decreases occurred in undergraduate enrollments. One factor contributing to this decline was enrollment ceilings in state universities. Current available data indicates enrollments over the next five years at the national and state levels will increase at a slower pace than during the past decade.

Total enrollments in colleges and universities have increased by 10.8% since 1985. However, after peaking in 1992 at 587,977, the total enrollments decreased to 571,355 in 1995, a decline of 2.8%.

The analysis by level of enrollments showed undergraduate enrollments peaked in 1992 at 491,453, then declined 3.7% by 1995. Graduate enrollments peaked in 1994 at 82,505, then declined to 81,789 by 1995, a decline of 0.9%. On the other hand, enrollments in first-professional programs were the highest in 1995 at 16,107.

...female enrollments have jumped nearly 16% since 1986...

Female enrollments have been growing much faster than male enrollments over the past decade. Since 1986, female enrollments have grown 15.9%, compared to male enrollments which grew only 3.8%.

The percentage of females enrolled full-time grew from 61.2% in 1986 to 62.4% in 1995, an increase of 1.2 percentage points. Conversely, full-time males increased by only 0.2 percentage point.

Overall, total enrollments in 1995 decreased by less than 0.1%. However, community colleges, private state-aided institutions and the state school of technology showed declines greater than 2.5%. The University of Pennsylvania showed a major decline among the private state-aided institutions. Private two-year colleges showed a significant increase, primarily the result of adding the Pennsylvania Institute of Technology.

Specifically, the state school of technology showed the largest decrease (6.4%), followed by community colleges and private state-aided institutions (each 2.7%) and state universities (0.3%). Private two-year colleges showed the largest increase (16.9%), followed by state-related commonwealth universities (1.7%), theological seminaries (0.7%) and private colleges and universities (0.5%).

Note: Enrollment data for the Thaddeus Stevens State School of Technology was included in 1995 because Act 211 of 1990 authorized this school to grant associate degrees.

Public institutions had lower percentage point increases in minority enrollments since 1986 than their private counterparts with the exception of the private colleges and universities category. State universities had the lowest increase in minority enrollments (1.2 percentage points).

Minority enrollments in private two-year colleges increased by 13.5 percentage points, the largest among all categories of institutions. However, an analysis of the same institutions in both years showed that, even by utilizing the data only for institutions in operation during both years, the percentage of minority enrollments increased from 16.4% to 27.4%, an increase of 11.0 percentage points . Theological seminaries and private state-aided institutions also had significant increases in minority enrollments (9.1 and 8.8 percentage points, respectively).

Women had the highest percentage of enrollments in all age groups in 1995. This was most pronounced in the 35-64 age groups where women outnumbered men approximately 2 to 1. Although not shown in the table, decreases in enrollments in different age groups between 1993 and 1995 were approximately proportional to decreases in the total enrollments.

Occupationally specific programs prepare individuals for employment in a specific trade or occupation. These programs are offered below the bachelor's level and require less than four years to complete. Thus, in both 1987 and 1995, the highest percentages of occupationally specific enrollments were found in the two-year institutions (community colleges, private two-year colleges and the state school of technology). During this period, the most significant changes were at community colleges and private two-year colleges where the proportion of occupationally specific students fell 10.2 percentage points and increased 8.5 percentage points, respectively.

...the percentage increase in higher education enrollments in Pennsylvania was lower than at the national level...

Nationally, enrollments increased by 16.8% between 1985 and 1993. The states with the largest percentage increases were: Georgia, 53.9%; Colorado, 48.7%; New Mexico, 48.6%; and Nevada, 46.5%. Pennsylvania enrollments increased by 16.5% during this period. Massachusetts was the only state showing a decrease (-0.3%).

APPENDIX E

GLOSSARY

FIRST-PROFESSIONAL STUDENT - A student enrolled in a professional school or program which requires at least two academic years of college work for entrance and a total of at least six years for a degree.

FIRST-TIME FRESHMAN - A student who has not previously attended any college. Also included are those students who entered with advanced standing (college credits earned before graduation from high school) at the freshmen level and those who attended college for the first time during the preceding summer.

FULL-TIME EQUIVALENT - A comparative figure derived by converting part-time student academic work load into a normal full-time load. Institutions were requested to use 15 credit hours per semester for undergraduate students and 12 credit hours per semester for graduate and first-professional students as the normal load. Total full-time equivalent enrollments are the sum of full-time headcount and the full-time equivalency of part-time students.

GRADUATE STUDENT - A student who holds a bachelor's or first-professional degree or equivalent and is working toward a master's or doctor's degree.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE - A student who has completed the 12th grade and received a high school diploma.

PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS - Institutions listed in the following categories: private state-aided institutions, private colleges and universities, theological seminaries and private two-year colleges.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS - Institutions listed in the following categories: state universities, state-related commonwealth universities, community colleges and state school of technology.

RACIAL/ETHNIC AND OTHER DESCRIPTIVE CATEGORIES OF PERSONS

RACIAL/ETHNIC CATEGORIES - Categories used to describe groups to which individuals belong, identify with or belong in the eyes of the community. These categories do not denote scientific definitions of anthropological origins. However, no person may be counted in more than one racial/ethnic category. Racial/ethnic designations are requested only for United States citizens, resident aliens and other eligible (for financial aid purposes) non-citizens who are not citizens or nationals of the United States but who have been admitted as legal immigrants for the purpose of obtaining permanent resident alien status (and who hold either an alien registration card (Form I-551 or I-151), a Temporary Resident Card (Form I-688) or an Arrival-Departure Record (Form I-94) with a notation that conveys legal immigrant status such as Section 207 Refugee, Section 208 Asylee, Conditional Entrant Parolee or Cuban-Haitian).

AMERICAN INDIAN/ALASKAN NATIVE - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of North America and who maintains cultural identification through tribal affiliation or community recognition.

ASIAN/PACIFIC ISLANDER - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of the Far East, Southeast Asia, the Indian subcontinent or the Pacific Islands. This includes people from China, Japan, Korea, the Philippine Islands, Samoa, India and Vietnam.

BLACK (NON-HISPANIC) - A person having origins in any of the black racial groups of Africa (except those of Hispanic origin).

HISPANIC - A person of Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Central or South American or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race.

WHITE (NON-HISPANIC) - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Europe, North Africa or the Middle East (except those of Hispanic origin).

OTHER DESCRIPTIVE CATEGORY

NONRESIDENT ALIEN - A person who is not a citizen or national of the United States and who is in this country on a visa or temporary basis and does not have the right to remain indefinitely. Nonresident aliens are reported separately rather than in any of the five racial/ethnic categories described above.
